A SOLEMN WARRING, The impression is getting abroad that the assessment bill is doomed. It is to be slaughtered in the house of its friends. The eredulity of the farmers is to be played upon. They are to be made believe that mortgages should be taxed, and the mortgage-tax rider of the Hayes bill is to defeat reassessment.

As previously stated we do not propose to enter upon the merits or demerits of mortgage taxation. We may grant, for the sake of the argument, that it is all right. But it is known that a bill to tax mortgages can not get through the legislature. The tax-dodgers know this and hence they raise the cry for mortgage taxation, believing that the farmer will echo the cry, and become the instrument of his own undoing. That the farmer has taken the bait seems evident from the attitude legislators have in some instances, against their own judgment, been obliged to take under the coercion of their constituents.

It now becomes the duty of THE Times to register a solemn warning to the Democratic members of the legisla-The party is pledged to reassess-The pledge is contained in the recommendation of the last State plat-ordinated to the one great issue involvdanger the good faith of their party an if they do so far forget themselves it is questionable that their demands should control their representatives, chosen upon a solemn compact to which both electors and elected were parties.

There is another consideration of appalling concern to those interested in the future of the Democratic party. Republicans are gleefully rubbing their hands and waiting to see this fair State turned over to their control. The pre diction is openly made that if an assessment bill is not passed Maryland will go Republican.

Howard county can not be changed, because her legislative delegation will be the passage of the Wilson tariff bill. found always in line with the party's pledges. Whatever may happen in the State at large, this good old county will tors remain, as always, true to Democracy. But in the counties where the mortgage tax advocates are outraging the sense of their fellow citizens danger may be anticipated if anything is allowed to interfere with the keeping of the promise to which the party is committed.

We are not crying calamity. We do not even yet admit that there is danger ahead. But we are not blind to future possible perils and hence we lift up our voice in solemn warning.

SENATOR GORMAN AT WORK.

Senator Gorman is doing able work in the Senate Democratic caucus on the Wilson bill. His aim is to keep the party in line, on a sound revenue measure, a difficult task in view of the great diversity apparent of Senatorial views. There was a stormy time Wednesday, and the part Mr. Gorman took in the matter is told by the New York Sun as follows:

astate Senator Gorman of Maryland who brought the party together to-day, just as he has done before when they were on the verge of a disastrous factional fight. He made a long, able and shrewd speech at the afternoon session of the caucus, urging his Democratic colleagues to cast aside their differences and get together in support of a bill that will not only receive the votes of all the Democrats in the Senate, but that will be endorsed by the Democrats throughout the country, and on which the Democratic party can tide to victory. He said that those Senators, who desire amendments made that are demanded by the constituencies they represent, should be listened to and their advice heeded, and he urged that the bill be framed, to meet the necessities of the American producer and consumer, and to make it a measure that could not be successfully attacked by the Republican opposition. During his speech Mr. Gorman was plied right and left with questions, which served to bring out not only his masterful qualities as a shrewd political leader, but also his consummate knowledge of the details of the tariff question. To all the interruptions he replied in perfect good nature, and never displayed more ability as a party manager than he did to-day.

Gov. Flower! of New York, has signed the "Greater New York" bill. It means the consolidation of 125 square miles of territory and will take in a population of about 3,000,000, souls. Once consummated it will make the second largest city in the world, London being the first.

AMEND IT OR DEFEAT IT.

The Smith free school-book bill hes passed the Senate unanimously. It is stated that this was done under a recent and harmless variety of "senatorial courtesy"-harmless because it is understood that the bill can not get through to final passage. The "courtesy" in the matter was to President Smith, who has made the bill a hobby.

The members of the House of Delegates, it is to be presumed, will put a quietus on the Smith bill even before Governor Brown gets a whack at it.

The treasury officials have in various ways made it plain to the way-faring man that the State can not just now spend $125,000 per annum in gratuities to those who are not in need. If the screws are to be put on let it be in the interests of the general school fund. Now it would be more like the correct hing to have the bill amended so that the application of the funds provided might be discretionary with boards of school commissioners. If not so amended generally, it will be in order for the Howard county delegation to have the measure specially amended in its application to this county.

Regarding the bill generally we repeat what we have urged before: Amend it er defeat it!

MORE ABOUT WATER WORKS.

Messes, Editors: Your corespondent of last week in estimating the expenses of the city in the event of water works being adopted under the proposed scheme, namely, bonding the city for $30,000, will have to revamp his table in order to be correct. lle left out the annual expense of running the city. The table should be as follows:

Interest on $30,000 00 at 6 per

Resources from licenses...... 1,100 (9) Tax on $620,000, city's basis, at 35 ets per $100............ 2,310 (0).

Amount annual deficit

The proposed plan shows a clear shortage of $1,399. In time there would be water rents but in planning water works for Ellicott City not much revenue from that source could be counted on for years to come, as the expense of putting pipes into a large majority of the houses would necessarily be great, and taking water would be correspondingly slow. Let the amount from that source and all other mounts to be included in the expenses, The party's first duty is to keep this be shown to those who must bear pledge, and local demands should be sub- the burden, before undertaking the great work.
